

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A document editing method includes transferring document information to a printing device capable of printing the document information on a surface coded with a position-coding pattern. Editing information is received from a reading device capable of reading position information from the position-coded surface.

09341-0340
"ATFED"